Russian Dive-Bombers Claim Successes

HEAVY BLOWS DEALT

Przemysl Recaptured By Swift Counter-Attacks

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received June 26, 10.10 p.m.)

LONDON, June 26. A Moscow communique states that 76 Germans and 17 Russian 'planes have been destroyed. One Russian correspondent says he watched relay after relay of dive-bombers take off in continuous procession from forward aerodromes to attack German motorised infantry. When the enemy fighters appeared the dive-bombers accepted the challenge and shot down several Messerschmitts. The remainder of the fighters turned back, leaving the infantry at the mercy of the dive-

A Berlin news agency claims that the Luftwaffe set fire to 17 trains on one line and destroyed six troop trains on another line.

A Moscow communique states that enemy mobile units yesterday developed an offensive in the Wilno-Baranowicze areas (near the Lithuanian boundary). Large air formations engaged the enemy in these areas. Enemy tanks during the fighting succeeded in breaking through the Wilno-Oszmiana area. Enemy attempts to break through the Brody-Lwow areas (in the south) encountered strong resistance from the Red Army supported from the air. Enemy mechanised forces suffered heavy losses.

The Russians recaptured Przemysl by swift counter-attacks.

In the Czernowitz (Rumania) area the Soviet repulsed strong day that the prolongation of the war enemy forces who attempted to as a result of Germany attacking

The Red Army firmly held positions in the Bessarabian sector. The emy attempted to advance in the ulani area but suffered a heavy feat and the remnants were pressed beyond the River Pruth. Cavalry Charge

The war correspondent of oviet newspaper "Izvestia" Soviet newspaper "Izvestia" describes a Soviet victory on the river Pruth in which the Red Air Force and cavalry brilliantly co-operated. He says that the enemy, attacking from Falciu, surprised the Russians and crossed the river. "Our border guards self-sacrificingly defended the frontier, but were overwhelmed by sheer weight of numbers," he relates. "Then the Soviet 'planes appeared and bombed and machinegunned the enemy infantry and tanks inflicting tremendous losses. Our cavalry then charged and, supported by the air force, occupied Falciu, from which the enemy retreated in confusion."

The Russian and German armies continue to grapply along the enormous front, but there is no proof of a decisive German thrust at any point. A Hungarian report that Germans have entered Wilno just east of the Polish-Lithuanian border, and that the occupation of Kaunas, the Soviet newspaper of the Polish-Lithuanian border, and that the occupation of Kaunas, the Lithuanian capital, is imminent is unconfirmed. The Russians claim that they are holding the attackers everywhere, and declare that statements that the Germans have substantially advanced are without foundation.

Only the Start. According to Swedish circles, the German military authorities admit that the present operations against Russia are merely the preliminaries to a big clash with the main body of the Pussian Army to a big clash with the main body of the Russian Army.

The first drive by the German land forces was apparently aimed at securing a quick grip of vital Russian transport systems. The fact that the Luftwaffe has now switched its heavy forces against Russian railways may mean that the land forces have not progressed to the extent expected.

The announcements that Finland has entered the war, that Sweden has agreed to the passage of troops from Norway, and that Hungary and Slovakia have broken off relations with Russia indicate that Germany is intent on gaining all the help she can secure.

The Syrian Prime Minister describes the German bombing of Damascus as sheer savagery. Most of the bombs dropped on one of the most heavily populated quarters in which there are no military objectives. All troops had already been evacuated from the city.

At least 30 or 40 civilians were killed or wounded.

The raid has caused widespread anger among the Arabs.

The R.A.F. reports that it is now facing inferior equipment

Following the fourteenth consecutive night raid on industrial targets, Germany for the first time admits serious destruction. Bombs dropped in western Germany on Tuesday night caused very serious damage in many quarters and the civilian population suffered severely.

LAND AND SEA FLANK CLEARED

BRISK CAMPAIGNS

Navy In Unison With Army

British Official Wireless (Received June 26, 7.45 p.m.) RUGBY, June 25.

In a survey of the African fighting Colonel Walter Elliot said that in the eastern Mediterranean the Nile Delta was being held in strength and the strength of the enemy around it was being tested while they were clearing the flanks to the south and east. How great was this work of clearing our southern flank in East Africa was not generally recognised, he said. The campaign now approaching termination had cleared not only the land flank but the sea flank, both of which were of vital importance.

To clear the Axis from the shores of both the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean was a task which was undertaken and could only be undertaken by land forces and was a striking example of how the armies and navies were indispensable to each other's strategy.

Desert Probe

On the western flank, in the Western Desert, a heavy probe was recently undertaken against the enemy forces and positions. A stall while the termitory they occupy; secondly, how much territory they occupy; secondly, how much territory they occupy; secondly, how quickly; thirdly, in what state they find the territory.

Should the Germans obtain possession of the Ukraine and the Caucasus only after a delay of six or eight weeks they will probably acquire very little of the 1941 harvest. They may gain some petroleum, depending on the condition in which the industry is found. If the retreating Russians destroy or remove stocks and make the plant unusable the Germans cannot obtain much the first of the strict of t while they were clearing the flanks

The lesson of this war was that it was a war of quality, quality of men and quality of equipment rather than numbers. The quality of the British equipment was first rate and the quality was variety was rapidly comand the quantity was rapidly com-ing forward. The quality of the men was, according to all observers, very

Nazi Hopes Of Oil, Wheat And Produce Unlikely

(British Official Wireless.) (Received June 26, 10.45 p.m.)

To Be Realised

RUGBY, June 26. The value of the economic help the Allies can give Russia in the present conflict is keenly discussed in informed circles here, where the question is regarded as second only in importance to that of the Soviet's capacity to restrain Germany's vast military offensive. The two questions are, in fact, closely related. If the Russians succeed in holding the Germans the economic consequences will be extremely damaging to the invaders.

On the western flank, in the Western Desert, a heavy probe was recently undertaken against the enemy forces and positions. A stalwart campaign had been and was being carried on at Tobruk, which was another example of the interdependence of land and sea power.

At the present moment the northern flank of Syria was being cleared. It was a hard enough decision to go into Syria and harder still for the Free French.

The lesson of this war was that

Regarding agriculture, Stalin's farm collectivisation policy is all to the disadvantage of the Germans. Not only must precious German oil be diverted to keep the farms going—since the Russians have not enough horses to replace mechanised equipment—but complete reorganisation of agriculture will be necessary.

ganisation of agriculture will be necessary.

Collective farms are worked on the central planning system, raw materials, equipment, management and so on being obtained from central points, and if the Russians have taken the precaution to remove the key men and specialists, the Germans will have to import anything to 250,000 men, including agricultural managers, bookkeepers, storematerials, equipment, management and so on being obtained from central points, and if the Russians have taken the precaution to remove the key men and specialists, the Germans will have to import anything to 250,000 men, including agricultural managers, bookkeepers, storemen and many other grades.

As for minerals, if the Germans need iron ore and have shipping available, they can get it. If they America's greatest living composer, Jerome Kern, furnished the musical score of five original numbers in Universal's romantic comedy feature, "One Night in the Tropics," now screening at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. "You and Your Kiss," "Simple Philosophy and "Your Dream" are the numbers sung by Allan Jones.

"One Night In the Tropics" presents the story of a young insurance man who sells his best friend a million-dollar "love insurance" policy and thereby causes romantic complications among two couples. Starring roles are played by Jones, Miss Kelly, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello and Robert Cummings. Abbott and Costello, famous stage and radio comedy team, make their screen debut in the picture.

Bringing Hugh Herbert and a whole court of clowns in one of the most novel comedy concoctions of the season, "Meet the Chump," is the second feature. Herbert has one of his most hilarious characterisations in a record of 100 screen hits, in the role of the wacky guardian of a ten-million dollar estate. RALPH BYRD MANTAN MORELAND Syria! The French Foreign Legion! Here it is — taken straight from to-day's news — this story of the Sahara Desert, where the world's derelicts meet. Battanion of parachite thoops in action.

Ralph Byrd, handsome athletic star, heads the cast as a gallant Captain Paul Dumont, special advisor to Sangalee parachute troops, instructing them in the latest methods of modern warfare.

En route to his new post, Dumont falls in love with Helene, played by Lorna Gray. She returns his affection until it is discovered that he is the best friend of her fiance, Raoul (Peter George Lynn). The unhappy twosome, placing honour above personal feelings, agree to separate. The associate feature "Black Dlamonds," stars Richard Cromwell.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IN "YOUNG PEOPLE"

With rollicking entertainment its keynote, "Young People" has been called Shirley Temple's most enjoyable picture. Jack Oakie and Charlotte Greenwood are co-starred with her in the 20th Century-Fox film now screening at the State Theatre, Napier.

Joyfully musical, the new film also boasts an unusual story. Charlotte and Jack adopt Shirley and though they achieve success with their vaudeville act, they decide to retire on a New England farm. Their life in the small town is depicted as the film moves swiftly to the stirring conclusion. Paced by five new and catchy tunes by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, "Young People" has been labelled a show full of gay good time. Others featured in a fine supporting cast include Arleen Whelan, George Montgomery and Kathleen Howard.

After luncheon Mrs J. R. Stevenson suggested that as a sister organisation of the Rotary Club the members send a letter of sympathy to Mr A. J. C. Runciman, whose wife died suddenly this week. It was agreed that this be done.

Mrs O'Weara then introduced

Every function of the living body is either directly or indirectly under the control of the nervous system. Due to nervous impulses the glands secrete, muscles constrict. Therefore a study of the nervous system forms the basis of Chiropractic procedure.

Since the nerves radiate to all parts of the body from the spinal chord, they must pass between the bones of the spine in order to reach their destination. Because of this close relationship to the spine, it is obvious that any derangement

COMMENT ON THE FILMS

A stirring tale of Canada's fam-ous "NORTH-WEST MOUNTED POLICE" is presented in the film of the same name, produced with all the action and colour of which Cecil B. de Mille is capable. It is in rich technicolour.

As a change from his "Mr Moto" roles, Peter Lorre essays a part of a different sort in "STRANGER ON THE THIRD FLOOR." He plays a homicidal maniac who involves a young man in a murder with a web of circumstantial evidence.

A gay, romantic comedy of gang-sters, night spots and gunmen is "Love, Honour and Oh, Baby," which features Wallace Ford, Mona Barrie and Warren Hymer.

A merry blend of action and music and romance is mixed in Anna Neagle's "No, No, Nanette," in which the vivacious star is teamed with Roland Young, Richard Carlson and Victor Mature.

An intricate tale woven around the life of a great Shakespearian actor and his leading lady is the basis of the hilarious comedy "IT'S LOVE I'M AFTER," starring Leslie Howard and Bette Davis.

Love, life and sudden death in war torn China is the theme of "WEST OF SHANGHAI," stirring drama starring Boris Karloff in the role of a Chinese bandit.

"STREETS OF NEW YORK," starring Jackie Cooper, is a story of the self made men who attempt to rise above the environment of a great city's slum areas.

Shirley Temple's 22nd hit, "YOUNG PEOPLE," stars her with Jack Oakie and Charlotte Greenwood, in a human story of show people endeavouring to settle down.

Parachute troops are seen in action in "DRUMS OF THE DESERT," starring Ralph Byrd and Lorna Gray, a drama of desert love.

Rosalind Russell and Brian Aherne enhance their comedy repu-tations in "HIRED WIFE," a highly ntertaining story of the eternal Leonid Snegoff, plays with Akim Tamiroff, famed character actor, once again in "ESCAPE FROM YESTERDAY," a dramatic story of emigre Cossacks in America.

One of the handsomest Philo Vances, Warren William brings the famous character to life again in "THE GRACIE ALLEN MURDER CASE," with Gracie Allen, Ellen Drew, Kent Taylor and Judith Barrett in featured roles rett in featured roles.

Veteran of many hilarious comedy roles in recent years, Eddie Quillan is featured with Sigrid Gurie and Ralph Byrd in "DARK STREETS OF CAIRO," a thriller set in Egypt.

Jimmy McCallion had been in Hollywood only about six months when he recently finished his fourth picture, "PRIDE OF THE BLUE-GRASS," which stars Gantry, a blind racehorse.

Miracle Man Has Limitations

Even a miracle man has his limitations. Art director James Basevi had completed his work for John Ford's Argosy picture, "THE LONG VOYAGE HOME" when Ian Hunter, who plays one of the principal characters, came to chat with him. Hunter found Basevi puffing furiously at his pipe.

acters, came to chat with him. Hunter found Basevi puffing furiously at his pipe.

"A perfect picture of a contented happy man," remarked the actor to the man who had provided the locust plague of "The Good Earth," the breath-taking hurricane for "The Hurricane" and the memorable earthquake scene for "San Francisco." "Contented nothing," replied Basevi. "I've been a pipe smoker for 20 years and I can't make smoke rings yet."

Known as Hollywood's miracle man, because he has created so many thrilling effects to add realism to motion picture scenes, Basevi's task in working with Director John Ford on "The Long Voyage Home" was to create a duplicate of a huge tramp steamer, the S.S. Glencairn, of which author Eugene O'Neill made many demands, and to create a storm with mountainous waves dashing over the prow of the ship. The storm scenes in this new film are regarded as among the most thrilling and realistic ever pictured. The "miracle man" does such extraordinary things better than any other art director in filmdom, but when it comes to blowing rings—well, that's quite another matter. Basevi was a major in the Canadian army in Flanders in World War 1.

Production of Kipling's "THE JUNGLE BOOK" is expected to start soon at the Alexander Korda studios. Sabu has the leading role, under the directorship of Zoltan Korda. It is believed that the film

A Gentleman No Longer

Melvyn Douglas has finally ruined his 10 year record of being the screen's most constant gentleman. Playing opposite Merle Oberon in Ernest Lubitsch's light-hearted comedy "THAT UNCERTAIN FEELING," Douglas was called upon for the first time in his film career to smack a woman—and not too gently.

Douglas had counted on that film being one picture in which he wouldn't lose his trousers.

In five of his recent pictures, "There's Always a Woman," "Good Girls Go To Paris," "The Amazing Mr Williams," "Too Many Husbands," and "He Stayed For Breakfast," Douglas had to appeal without his pantaloons. Although in "That Uncertain Feeling" he has a number of intimate scenes with Merle Oberon as his screen wife, the script didn't call for him to be seen trouserless. as his screen wife, the script didn't call for him to be seen trouserless.

But just before the last scene Lubitsch decided it would look more natural if Douglas walked in carrying his pants instead of wearing them. "I'm getting typed," muttered Douglas.

FIRST WELL-DRESSED REPORTER

The movies have "reformed" in the eyes of newspapermen. A natty reporter is finally on the screen.

Mr D. Ellis, general manager of Associated-B.E.F., recently referred to the great success of the film in Australia, where it had its premiere at West's Theatre, Adelaide.

"Its popularity," continues Mr Ellis, "clearly demonstrates that the outstanding entertainment and audience-appeal of the stage play, which broke all long-run records on West End, London, has been preserved in its transfer to the screen.

"My early impressions of Colombo were that it was a beastly, hot dump, and the last place on earth," he writes. "It was novel, certainly, and quite unlike anything that we could realise in New Zealand. The main business area is pretentious, but the native shops are just shacks, with everything higgedly-piggedly, and not too sanitary. The natives pester the life out of one to buy their shoddy wares, and the children of tender age clamour round one, pleading starvation and begging for a few cents. They're cunning little beggars and have their hands in your pockets in the their hands in your pockets in the slickest possible manner.

Streets of every describable business. There was one street of dairies, in which the cows—small beasts with huge humps on their necks—appeared to be milked during the day, as required. And here, there and everywhere natives (very scantily clad) lie sleeping in shady spots. There are not many womenfolk in the streets, but these can be seen with their children up dark alleywith their children up dark alley-

Several members of the production staff pointed this out to director Phil Rosen, who in turn pointed out that genuine newspapermen have complained for years about their movie counterparts. Disfavour Of Japanese Authorities

Silent prayers for the dead are to be banned henceforth in Japan as a "Christian custom alien to traditions," the Shrine Board announces. They are to be replaced by two deep bows followed by two hand claps and ending with another bow.

The practice of praying silently at shrines and temples was introduced in Japan in 1924 following the great earthquake when the entire nation paused to pray silently for the victims of the disaster. The new ruling is now hailed as "general repudiation of the Christian"

FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1941.

GREAT BRITAIN'S FOOD

A cablegram, published yesterday morning, in summarising the wartime development of agriculture in Great Britain, gave the information that in two years about 4,000,000 acres of grassland have been ploughed up; the cattle population is still in the neighbourhood of the pre-war record; sheep are high in numbers; more fertilisers have been spread on the land in the past year than ever before in British history, and improvements to the remaining grassland have resulted in a larger return, acre for acre, than formerly.

This sort of thing may not be particularly enlivening reading for the New Zealand primary producer, who must inevitably see in the tremendous revival of British agriculture a serious threat to his markets in the Motherland, but it does give an indication of the extent to which Great Britain is mobilising her resources at the present time.

Further, it may be taken for granted that after two sharp lessons on the peril of too great a dependence on outside supplies, Great Britain will not again drop agriculture like a hot potato as she did after the last war.

A lesson of a different kind was learned during the twenty years' armistice between 1918 and 1939. Britain discovered that the first World War had brought about an enormous amount of industrialisation in countries which had once bought virtually all their manufactured goods from Birmingham, Manchester, Leeds, and Sheffield, and it became clear that Britain could not hope to regain the industrial supremacy she had held before 1914.

Profound economic and social changes followed the discovery, but beyond spasmodic attempts to cope with the situation, successive Governments succeeded in doing nothing apart from a futile tinkering which temporarily alleviated but did not solve the problem. The two main factors causing the British agricultural slump were the smallness of the farming population in proportion to the urban population—a fact which gave the farmer and the farm-worker little say in the conduct of the nation's affairs—and the flooding of the British market with the produce of the Continent, the Dominions, and South America. This state of affairs created a sort of vicious circle. Depression on the land caused a steady drift of population to the cities—a process which had been going on every lation to the cities—a process which had been going on ever since the Industrial Revolution, but which was accelerated to disastrous proportions in the 1918-1939 period—and a consequent spreading of urban areas over rich farm lands, while other equally rich lands fell into disuse. It is probable that the end of the present war will see some curious changes in the life of Britain. The wholesale destruction of property in the cities, while it has involved a tragic loss of historic and beautiful buildings, has also resulted in the greatest slum-clearance in history. If rebuilding is conducted on rationally-planned lines, the cities of Britain will be vastly more pleasant places to live in than they have ever been before, and this will check the outward expansion of suburbs into the countryside and the simultaneous creation of large areas of derelict semi-slums in the

All this, however, is incidental to the main point which is the question of whether, in view of a further contraction of the market for exports of British manufactured goods, Great Britain will be able to afford tremendous imports of food.

It is extremely unlikely that the United Kingdom, with a population approaching 50,000,000, will ever seek to become entirely self-supporting in the production of foodstuffs, but it is almost certain that British agriculture will be stimulated and maintained at an unprecedentedly high level of prosperity.

The developments of the last ten years have shown that whatever hopeful and futile platitudes may be voiced about world peace there can be only two courses for Great Britain to follow in the future. If she is to take part in the reconstruction of Europe she must be sufficiently strong to maintain peace, and if she is to withdraw into isolation she must again be strong enough to preserve her independence. And in neither case can she afford to let her home production of food dwindle to the danger point

BOARD'S DECISION

American Unit To Be Purchased

A decision to buy a new engine costing approximately £1100 was made at yesterday's meeting of the Hastings Fire Board. The purchase is to be made subject to the machine meeting with the board's approval. Eight fire engine chassis are being imported to the Dominion and three are not already ordered by three are not already ordered by brigades. The Hastings Brigade in-tends buying one of the unbooked chassis.

"The old truck down there is just an ornament; there is no doubt about that," said Mr G. W. B. Mc-Cormick, referring to the older engine owned by the board. He had been informed by the inspector of fire brigades (Mr R. Girling Butcher) that eight fully-equipped machines were being imported from America and one of these would be America and one of these would be available for Hastings. Delivery would take between three and four months.

Good Opportunity There was no doubt that Hastings' rapid expansion made necessary the purchase of another machine, and this seemed to be a good opportunity to procure one, said the chairman (Mr A. I. Rainbow).

"Hastings certainly is in need for a second machine," said Mr G. M. Taylor. "It is evident that it will be years before we can get one from

Contest In Designing

The acting-Prime Minister (the Hon. W. Nash) to-night gave details of the agreement which has been reached between the United Kingdom Government and the Governments of Australia and New Zealand with regard to the purchase of the exportable surplus of products for the war period.

Simultaneous announcements in respect to the agreement are being made in Australia and the United Kingdom.

"In making this announcement on behalf of the New Zealand Government," said Mr Nash, "I desire to review briefly the outcome of our export trade agreements during the season now ending.

"Our 1940-41 meat contract with the United Kingdom was completed comparatively recently.

export trade agreements during the season now ending.

"Our 1940-41 meat contract with the United Kingdom was completed comparatively recently.

"At various times during the year we have had advice which indicated that shipments would be comparatively light, and we feared that the progress of the war might result in our being left with an unmanageable surplus in store.

"The final contract, however, completed on April 28, 1941, provided for the purchase, shipped or unshipped, of 248,000 tons, and the indications are that this quantity will be lifted by September 30 this year.

New Season Position. "The New Zealand Government and producers must accept some responsibility in the direction of a reasonable adjustment in the production and processing organisations to ensure that the surpluses are manageable within our ability to store, preserve or sell in other markets.

"We are glad to accept the agree."

New Season Position.

"We expect to enter the new meat season with 110,000 tons in store, and it is anticipated that a consider-able proportion of this carry-over will be shipped before the end of

will be shipped before the end of the year.

"Our contract for dairy produce was completed on August 12, 1940, and provided for the purchase, shipped or unshipped, of 120,000 tons of butter and 107,000 tons of cheese. We were told, however, that every endeavour would be made to lift 130,000 tons of butter, and it was later agreed that our full production of cheese was required.

Dairying Season Figures. "We expect to end the 1940-1941 dairying season at July 31 with an export of approximately 130,000 tons of butter and 118,00 tons of cheese, and will then have in store 17,500 tons of butter and 6500 tons of cheese.

"For the corresponding period of 1940 the carry-over was 40,000 tons of meat, 14,000 tons of butter and 7400 tons of cheese.

"Our contract for wool is for the duration of the war and one clip thereafter, payment being made on appraisal in the brokers' stores.

"Therefore, from the financial viewpoint, wool is not a problem and shipments have been reasonably satisfactory.

Important Variations

"Our contract for 1941-42 contains certain important variations from the terms existing in 1940-1941.

"The contract for wool purchase remains the same, and a contract is arranged for 160,000 tons of cheese per annum for the duration and one year thereafter.

"With regard to meat and butter, however, the contract is not on a definite quantitative basis.

"The full text of the agreement for the disposal of surpluses accepted by his Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, the Government of Australia and the Government of New Zealand is as follows:— "It means:

"(1) That production will continue on the basis of pre-war quantities;

"(2) That every pound of food that can be shipped will be sent to the United Kingdom;

"(3) That food not required by the United Kingdom will be marketed, if possible, in other countries;

"They also appreciate the serious effect upon New Zealand's economic and financial structure which these difficulties are causing. With a view to minimising these effects and preventing the impairment of New Zealand's war effort, the United Kingdom Government are prepared to join the New Zealand Government in co-operative arrangements to ease the burden falling on New Zealand during the war.

Basis of Co-operation

regudice the post-war position, the two Governments have agreed that the following principle should be applied as a basis for such co-operation:

(1) "The United Kingdom Government to purchase the New Zealand produce that can be shipped and to pay for such produce at prices and upon such terms and conditions as are from time to time agreed with the Ministry of Food.

the probable demands during or after the war and (b) to the importance of the industries to New Zealand.

Burden Equally Shared

"(6) The financial burden of acquiring and holding these reserve stocks pending their disposal to be shared equally between the two Governments.

"(7) Payment to be made for the produce acquired for reserve stocks shared equally between the two Governments.

"(7) Payment to be made for the produce acquired for reserve stocks to be agreed between the two Governments. It is obvious that these various improvements will result in a high ceiling and better performance at a height. Britain's own single-seat fighters, the Hawker Hurricane and the Vickers Spitfire have undergone several modifications since the war began and the results have been a great improvement to their performance in speed, height and other ways.

"The New Zealand Government will collaborate in any discussion which may be convened either within the British Commonwealth of Nations or internationally to consider marketing, or related problems."

In announcing this agreement Mr Nash stated that the New Zealand Government wishes to stress its great satisfaction at the manner in which the United Kingdom has striven to meet the position.

"It might be argued that there is some uncertainty in the agreement in that the purchase of meat and in the manner in the Adverting to the position within New Zealand, Mr Nash said that at different times the New Zealand Government has announced its intention to stand behind any industry adversely affected by war conditions and to ensure that the burden so created will be shared equitably by all sections of the community.

Message From Prime Minister

By Telegraph—Press Association. WELLINGTON, June 27. Subsequent to his announcement of the details of the surplus product agreement the Hon. W. Nash stated that he had received a cable message from the Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. P. Fraser) in reply to an inquiry as to the exact application of the formula to cheese and other products. Mr Fraser has now confirmed that the agreement for the purchase of 160,000 tons of cheese is a firm purchase for the third year of the war, that is, the 1941-1942 season.

160,000 Tons Yearly
The United Kingdom will co-operate in marketing 160,000 tons yearly throughout the war and desires that New Zealand should aim to produce this quantity of cheese for the duration of war and one year thereafter.

After the 1941-1942 season, the difference between the 160,000 tons produced and the quantity shipped will be dealt with under the surplus commodities formula.

Since the Spitfires and Hurricanes of the R.A.F. began shooting down specimens of the new make of Messerschmitt single-seater fighter, the ME 109 F, there has been a good deal of speculation about the purpose for which it was designed and its real capabilities.

In cross-examination the appellant said that he was a member of the Church of England but had never been to church and had not been baptised. The Church's attitude to war had turned him away from it and the appellant had obtained his knowledge from his father, who attended church. Stanford said that as soon as his sons were old enough to think for themselves, he outlined the trend of thought which he believed they should follow. They were now conducting themselves to his satisfaction and he hoped that they were Christians.

OFF MORNING Mostly Pace Work

LINDRUM BEST

(By The Barb)
Yesterday morning it was expected that there would be a fair amount of galloping on account of the approaching Dannevirke Hunt meeting on Saturday at Woodville. The best gallop of the morning was accomplished by Lindrum.

Master Cyklon (T. Winiata), who appears to be back to fighting form and condition, was responsible for a very fair once round on the plough when alone he registered 1.42½ for the circuit. The last halfmile was run in 52½. Taken as a whole, the task was pleasing and points to him running prominently at Woodville this week-end.

Also on the plough, Sunny Knight (B. H. Morris) and Silver Ball (T. Kilgour) were associated over three-quarters of a mile. The latter was given a break of about four lengths, Lindrum (W. L. Aitken) showed all his old-time speed when, without exertion, he scampered over half a mile in a shade better than 50sec. He can gallop all right, but on the day with the colours up he appears too bashful to come forward.

Siegall (L. Barnett), who was anxious to be at top when worked round first at pace work, eventually took control of her lightweight and

Training Notes | Hawke's Bay Contingent For DANNEVIRKE HUNT Wellington

DEPART EARLY NEXT WEEK

District's Representatives Should Perform Well

By THE BARB.

There will be a team of the best part of 30 members leaving here early next week for the winter meeting of the Wellington Racing Club, which takes place on July 8, 10 and 12 at Trentham. The district's representatives should perform well on this trip and if the metropolitan district of Hawke's Bay is taken into consideration then Birkology can be regarded as a likely winner of the chief event.

Hawke's Bay, meeting after meeting, sends fair numbers to Trentham to compete and on a whole has done remarkably well although this season the only "plum" to come here was the Wellington Stakes, by Mr Frank Ormond's Bulandshar colt, Burra Sahib.

Over 30 were nominated for the Wellington winter fixture and although all are not making the trip 75 per cent at least have signified their intentions of being present. At the time of the reason the Transition up when endeavouring to go with him, and even if they do not chase him in the early stages he quarters of a mile. The latter given a break of about four lengths, but before the five-furlong post was reached Sunny Knight had easily run up alongside him and from then was wide out in the middle of the track and going comfortably. Sunny Knight was timed to run the six in 1.19, but as Silver Ball at that time was past that jumping off mark his time would be slightly slower.

(W. L. Aitken) showed without the maintained.

Though this is contrary to what the local horses are used to, or trained on, they invariably perform well down there at this time. Horses from this quarter are engaged in practically all the events so that was not retarded.

Black Majesty has proved himself a good performer, as has Sunny and the contract of the season the Trentham that it cannot be bridged before the race is well over. There are some who question his six furlongs at Trentham as well as the anticipated heavy track. At waverley in holding going his action was not retarded.

Black Majesty has proved himself a good performer, as has Sunny and the contract of the season the Trentham going is usually holding. practically all the events so that local interest will be maintained.

Most of this team have been showing winning form or indications of returning to it. Pitted against them will be gallopers from all parts of the Dominion, so to follow the local interest will be maintained.

Black Majesty has proved himself a good performer, as has Sunny Knight, and both are exceptionally good beginners. Black Majesty may start in the Whyte the first day and although he won the Carbine Plate the horses behind him that day were not guide as to his provides a second or control of the co the Dominion, so to follow the "locals" though the three days may be an expensive procedure. THE STEEPLECHASERS

Lambourn (B. Stowe) and Tashi
Lama (W. L. Aitken) were galloping companions over seven furlongs on the plough, which occupied 1.36, the last six taking 1.22. The former, who looks very bright, worked well and Tashi Lama's effort was not so bad, as the track was not fast.

Burma (G. Stowe) and Vandangle (Nesbitt) preferred the inside grass. Neither was at top to pass the winning post abreast in 42sec. The latter is a solid filly and appears to take little interest in her work, but with a few sharp flicks up and racing later will understand what is required from her. She is an ideal type for a middle distance handicap performer.

THE STEEPLECHASERS

In all, there have been four cross-country candidates from this area nominated — Anini, Birkology, Cherry Plum and Dozie Boy. The first three mentioned have two engagements the first day, the hack and the big steeplechase, but Dozie Boy is in the big event only.

Probably Anini will be started the first day in the hack event as she may not be seasoned sufficiently to go a solid three and a half miles. At Greenmeadows, and at Hastings earlier this month, the Waipukurau-woned mare showed distinct promise. But for her faulty jumping over three obstacles in the Hawke's Bay Steeplechase, she would have won instead of being second. Her form is good, so in the minor event on openquired from her. She is an ideal type for a middle distance handicap performer.

Black Majesty (H. J. Callahan) and Misurina (S. Pell) were worked in company over six furlongs run in 1.20. Misurina, who is not going to Dannevirke, went well for a hurdler while Black Majesty did not mind being mated with one of a lower grade. The former is very fit.

Theatre (J. P. Ryan) and Bonnie Scot (L. Cullen) were allowed to run along four furlongs on the plough in 524sec. with the latter going the better passing the winning post. Both will race in the Maiden at the Hawke's Bay Hunt meeting.

At the finish of the Manawatu Steeplechase he was well beaten by Birkology and when he returned home after that one race was anything but a fresh horse. His trip to Wellington has not been finalised but should he go down it will be for one of the minor events.

Six weeks back Dozie Boy was being proclaimed a likely winner for the Great Northern. He was taken north and on his way en route had one race at Hawera in which he ran third. Taken to Ellerslie to be schooled over the hill, he impressed the critic as much as any Auckland-trained or visiting entrant. Unfortunately, he fell in both his starts, which was contrary to expectations, as he is an able and clever fencer. Since returning home he has looked dul but he has always been deceiving. However "Dozie" at present looks a little what his name suggests and unless he recuperates a good deal in the next few days his trip to Trentham is much in the air. With the third day, now a fortnight was contrary to expectations, as good deal in the next few days his trip to Trentham is much in the air. THE HACK SPRINTERS The most likely local team for the hack sprint is Dainty Dell, Cherry Hunter and Earl's Court.

Hunter and Earl's Court.

Dainty Dell is not a consistent mare to follow and to be loyal to her means monetary loss. At Hastings she won well to suggest that she might have come solid but at Awapuni, on the first day her form was not complimentary. With a day between races she ran far better last Monday, beating all but Deflation. She may win a race on the Trentham trip but confidence is difficult to place in her. Perhaps she is not as good as she is assessed.

is not as good as she is assessed.

Cherry Hunter has raced only once of late, when occupying second berth at the last Napier Park meeting the first day. He is also engaged in the Trial the second day (Thursday) but will not have solid backing from here.

Earl's Court had one race at Hastings, the only one this season. That race tucked him up so that he is one from here that is unlikely to be present on opening day. ONE HACK HURDLER

Only one hack hurdler from this district has entered, Malacca. This gelding is not racing with luck as in the last four weeks he has been four the last four weeks he has been four times second and once first, while in his other start he was brought down by a fallen horse the first day at Napier. He was unlucky to be deprived of first money the second day at Hastings by Gay Fox. At Awapuni he was again runner-up to Regicide. At the second day at the same fixture he was tried in open company and beat all but Tidewaiter, one of the favourites for the waiter, one of the favourites for the Great Northern Hurdles. On his recent form this Arausio gelding should win a race at Trentham as he opposition, on paper, is none too

OPEN SPRINTERS

Afforded an entry from these parts in the open sprints are Sunny Knight, Black Majesty, Battle Gain, Poutatau, Lucullus Boy and Proceedings of the Control o Knight, Black Majesty, Battle Gain, Poutatau, Lucullus Boy and Proc-lamation—a fair team, particularly

ORDINARY FORM

Master Cyklon Shows Quality

(By THE BARB)
A team of 10 will leave here for Woodville this afternoon to fulfil engagements at the Dannevirke Hunt meeting to morrow. On paper it is not a strong lot, with Master Cyknon perhaps appearing to have the best chance of success, on recent form. Tea Lord and Summons, from the country, will also make the trip.

Siegall, runner up to Great Quex in the Hawke's Bay Hurdles, will not have to do much better than that to secure a straight-out win, although in that second she was well back. She worked well yesterday morning and if her owner has been successful in obtaining the services of A. E. Lord she will be one of the favourites, although the first choice will undoubtedly be Kanui Te Pai, who won a double on the flat at Awapuni and is reported to be a clever fencer, a clever fencer.

Vengeance has a little to learn about hurdling, also she appeared to lack confidence at the point-to-point meeting on Wednesday. However, with lower obstacles she may go better.

Acre's beauty has been a long time in winning her way out of maiden class. She is a good beginner and can just about hang on over five furlongs. Also, she has a poor crowd pitted against her. If she does not win, home she goes to the farm in Auckland.

no guide as to his prowess over a mile. Personally, The Barb prefers him over six furlongs and as he has won so well twice previously at Trentham in July he must go close Darag (Bulandshar-Thornproof) as said earlier in the week, has shown speed, but has had little gal-loping for some months. In fact, he y making it three. His stablemate Battle Gain is also has not been sent against the watch since coming in from his spell.

Cyprine is no champion but her breeding and track work since coming here give her an outside show of success in this team of moderates.

His stablemate Battle Gain is also another fast galloper and there are critics who say he is the equal to Sunny Knight or Black Majesty. However, on form over the last four or five weeks there is little to choose between the trio, but the majority may vote in favour of Sunny Knight over six furlongs on average going. Hyderabad figures among the acceptors for the Hunt Cup, but there is a doubt about him being a starter. Fit and well, as he was at the last Gisborne meeting, he would be a consideration. Sunny Knight over six furlongs on average going.
Potautau this time last year was being selected as a good thing to win the Trial Plate at Wellington, just after he had spread-eagled a field at Napier Park. This Colossus gelding 12 months ago was not at his best in that Trentham going, but since then has made the open grade, though hardly with the success anticipated. Spelled since the early autumn, he has now freshened up, but the above mentioned three sprinters appear to be in better racing form than the Ngatarawa trained gelding.

Master Cyklon, as reported in the training notes, is a fit little gelding and fitness on holding tracks is always a telling factor.

Here we find Arabic an acceptor again. His opponents in the Hack Cup are not a flash lot and if he cannot put up a bold showing on Saturday then it is safe to assume that his Trentham trip is off.

The form shown by Tashi Lama to date has not been illuminating and although The Barb is not throwing out a recommendation for him, it would not be in the least surprising to see him fighting out one of the minor places.

Tea Lord, trained privately by his lady owner at Ongaonga, is reported to be in even better order than when running second at Hastings earlier in the month. He has two engagements to morrow and may fulfil both, but will be started first in the six furlong hack.

Master Solway (S. Pell) was again schooled. At his first two or three attempts his exhibition was only so-so but later on, with a little more pace, he negotiated three hurdles in a much better style. of the chief flat races on the three-day programme.

Lambourn is fit enough to take on any company. His trip is not defin-ite and his connections make no secret of the fact that unless the going is firm he will not be a starter—and nineteen times out of twenty in July Trentham is soft and hold-going is firm he will not be a starter—and nineteen times out of twenty in July Trentham is soft and holding.

Diana Tetrix, unless she can produce better form than she did at Awapuni, is hardly worth taking away from home. In the autumn this mare won the Wairoa Cup, the Tolaga Bay Handicap and the Woodwille Cup in succession, all over a mile and a-quarter. Although she did win over seven furlongs early in the month at Greenmeadows, to the writer's way of summing up, this mare is infinitely better over a middle distance and on firm going.

STAYING HACKS.

For the middle distance hack events, horses from here nominated include Arabic, Kinkajou, Catanach and Laughing Song.

Arabic appears to have a "C.T." ticket, but his business certainly does not appear to be collecting first prizes. He has not been attended with much luck but horses who need that excuse are better left alone. However, he likes the going soft and his condition leaves nothing to desire.

Kinkajou was backed and beaten at Awapuni. Both days she led, or was handy to the turn, but failed attention to the desire.

Trial PLATERS.

TRIAL PLA

Kinkajou was backed and beaten at Awapuni. Both days she led, or was handy to the turn, but failed over the business end. Trainer J. P. Ryan has her in good order, but she is only mediocre and with one win in two years there is not much inducement to recommend her.

Catanach always runs a good race but has only a brace of wins to his credit. He is affected in the respiratory organs and has been operated on and the diseased gland removed.
The writer has noticed on more than
