The German attack on Russia appears to be developing on each of four fronts which, military circles in London consider, offer the most favourable chances of success (says a British Official Wireless message). A direct attack from Finland on Leningrad is excluded in view of the difficulties of assessing the present Finnish situation.

Of the four main possible light appears to derive Japan completely from the Axis.

Military experts believe that cooperation between Britain and Russia could provide the democracies with important air bases in Russia's Pacific outposts, thus bringing the Allies within striking distance of Japan. Of the four main possible lines of attack, the first is through the Baltic States in the direction of Leningrad. This terrain is generally suitable for operations, particularly by armoured units, but, if the Russians are forced to withdraw, there are possible strong lines of resistance up the Dvina River to Dvinsk. Since Leningrad is an important strategic point and the second city of Russia, it is highly probable that every effort will be made to hold it. LONDON, June 27.

The third line of attack, in southern Poland, runs from the frontier between the rivers Bug and Santhrough Lwow (Lemberg) towards Kiev. This is regarded as a vulnerable area.

The fourth direction of attack, in which the Rumanians appear to be engaged, is across the rivers Pruth and Dniester into the southern Ukraine, with Odessa as one obvious objective. In this area, the north part of Bessarabia is regarded as the danger point, since, if the Germans could cross the Dniester and the Pruth, they might turn the Russian flank. Both rivers can be forded at a certain time of the year from July but the Dniester is believed to have only one bridge.

The High Command, he said, had now thrown in practically the entire German war machine against the Russians to achieve this. French In Syria Prepare To Make Stand In The Hills

(United Press Association-Copyright.) (Received 27, 10.30 p.m.)

LONDON, June 26. The indications are that General Dentz is preparing a last major stand in the rugged Damour section in a desperate effort to save Beirut. A battle in the mountains may decide whether the Syrian campaign ends swiftly or drags on into the late summer.

General Dentz is not well placed strategically because the Lebanon heights run north and south parallel to the coast, enabling the Allies to push up from Merjiyun, also along the coastal plain simultaneously. The bulk of General Dentz's Damascus army is retreating to Damour. He is believed still to possess strong mechanised forces and an army of 25,000 native troops. He is also receiving fighter and bomber reinforcements flown from France via Sardinia, Brindisi, Rhodes and Aleppo.

The diplomatic correspondent of "The Times" says it is appreciated that Sweden and Finland are in a difficult position in relation to the Russian-German war, but Britain deprecates their recent decisions. It is realised that the Finns remember last year being forced to cede a large area to Russia, and are glad of the chance to recover it, never-large area to Russia, and are glad of the chance to recover it, nevertheless it is still felt in London that there is no compelling need for Finland to depart from her nonbelligerency.

The Soviet Radio explained on Wednesday that the Russian-Finnish war of 1-939 was obviously not against Finland, but was unavoidable for the Soviet because it was realised that Germany could have used Finnish territory, to attack Russia.

It is added that the Finns are merely innocent victims of German aggression, because it was Germany and Russia who fought in Finland in 1940, and it is Germany and Rus-sia again fighting there.

BRITAIN'S SHREWD AIR RAIDS GROW IN MIGHT

Heavier Loads Dropped: Many 'Planes And Few Losses

(British Official Wireless., (Received June 27, 7.45 p.m.)

RUGBY, June 26. Discussing Britain's bombing policy and the suggestion that the present is a golden opportunity to "send everything we have got and bomb Germany out of the war," an air expert writes: "The British policy is planning ahead. It was dictated as much by the Ministry of Economic Warfare as by the actual war chiefs and its steady growth is being felt more and more by Germany's war industries.

"Night after night British bomb-ers, sometimes new Sterlings and perhaps Manchesters and Halifaxs, roar over the enemy's territory to drop a weight of bombs which now at least is three times as great as that dropped on Germany last autumn.

"With these new aircraft a much heavier bomb-load is carried and in proportion to the weight of bombs dropped fewer aircraft are required.

"If Britain threw everything that would fly into these raids her attacks would prove a tragedy in regard to the rate of loss she would be bound to sustain. As it is, there is a noticeable falling off in the percentage of casualties, while those German raiders which come over the British Isles are suffering a far higher percentage of loss.

"Because of Britain's daylight sweeps the German fighter strength in northern France has had to be increased and, judging by results, there is a marked deterioration in the quality of the fighter pilots the British airmen are now meeting.

"On occasions our night offensives compare very favourably in weight and numbers with some of the heaviest enemy raids on Britain. Britain is now using hundreds where she used to use tens." "With these new aircraft a much

HASTINGS CLUB

High Standard:

Good Scores NEW MEMBERS

Some excellent scores were recorded at the Hastings Miniature Rifie Club's weekly shoot on Wednesday night, when the third trophy series began. Several new members were enrolled, clearly indicating that there are still many desirous of becoming acquainted with the finer points of shooting. After careful tultion these members will find that in time they will be able to compete with the best, and will handle any make of rifie with the utmost confidence.

Once again, in the A grade, honours went to S. L. Luxford with another splendid 69. This member is shooting with a remarkable consistency, having dropped a bare seven points over six matches, and congratulations go to him on his ability to find the bullseye. Dunn was again a close second.

In the B grade, shooting was of a very good standard, R. Stevenson hitting the mark well to finish with an excellent 65, closely followed by J. K. Moroney with 64.

Attendance of ladies on Thursday night was disappointing, but nevertheless the regular members showed what they could do, Miss C. Robertson shooting exceptionally well to score 67, and Mrs C. Pirie won the weekly ladder badge with a good 55.

Attractive Offering At Feilding

FAT MARKET FIRM By Telegraph—Press Association.
FEILDING, June 27.
Excellent prices for run cattle were a feature of the Feilding stock sale to-day. A large entry of P.A. bullocks swelled the total. These were in splendid condition and very attractive. They were sold in lots, some pens going to £10 5/-. Other lines of run cattle also sold well.
Fat cattle prices were not exceptionally high, but for good quality the market was firm at a higher figure than previously.
There was a large entry of fat sheep and prices were definitely easier, but there was a total clearance. There was an unusually large yarding of store sheep, principally

MARKET SALE AT HASTINGS

Considering the time of the year, the poultry entry at this week's sale of Messrs Harvey, Fulton and Hill at Hastings was a heavy one. All birds in good table condition met with ready competition. It is with extreme pleasure that I bring to the notice of my many friends and patrons, whose confidence it is essential for me to retain, the screening of Universal's "One Night in the Tropics," and, with full regard to my responsibility, I have no hesitation in recommending Jerome Kern's master musical, topping his "Show Boat" and Cosy Theatre. It has an all star-all entertainment cast - Allan Jones Nancy Kelly, Robert Cummings, Peggy Moran, Leo Carrillo, Mary Boland, and the first screen appearince of Abbott and Costello, the air waves sensation of America. They all romp through a delightful story replete with warm romance and hilarious with mad merry-making. All this Forget the troubles of a care-torn world; enjoy the grandest song and spectacle show you'll ever know. "One Night in the Tropics" is one musical romance that you will not want to miss. Also as an added pleasure Hugh Herbert in an hilarious comedy, "Meet the Chump." Don't be in doubt about this programme, it has my personal guarantee for wonderful entertain-

College Match.

All fixtures on July 5 were postponed for a week, in view of the fact that it would be possible to play only one match that day. Permission was given for Te Aute College to play a match against Palmerston North High School for the Moascar Cup at either Waipukurau or Waipawa on August 16. Final arrangements were held over until next meeting.

In view of the fact that the Waipawa team had included a man whose nomination the management committee had not approved (W. Mollison) the result of the Waipawa Te Aute match was reversed, and the match awarded to Te Aute. Further, it was agreed that Waipawa be informed that should they persist in playing Mollison, the team would be liable for suspension for the season.

GINGER ROGERS AS "KITTY FOYLE"

Giving its versatile star a most dramatic and most sparkling human role, "Kitty Foyle" presents Ginger Rogers as the heroine of Christopher Morley's best-selling novel, with a hand-ficked cast enacting the supporting roles of the well-known tale of a white-collar girl's career. This great drama, which won an Academy Award for Miss Rogers, is now showing at the State Theatre, Hastings. The book has been praised as "the natural history of a woman," and this telling phrase is said to fit the picture perfectly. The story deals with the life of a spirited Irish girl in Philadelphia, her stormy romance with a blueblooded scion of wealth and the recurring conflicts that romance brings about in her efforts to adjust herself to life.

Born on the "wrong side of the tracks," Kitty envies the Philadelphia socialites as a youngster, and later as a working girl falls in love with one of them, Wyn Strafford. From this point the story develops in dramatic intensity.

NORTH-WEST MOUNTED POLICE

Starting with the revolt of thousands of Metis, a half-breed people, against the Canadian Government, progressing through thrilling scene after thrilling scene as the Mounted Police ride into action with their red coats gleaming like a badge of courage, Cecil B. DeMille's Technicolour production of Paramount's "North West Mounted Police" is now showing at the Regent Theatre, Hastings.

Hastings.

With Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll starred, and Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman, George Bancroft, Lon Chaney jun., and Walter Hampden among the other stars in a cast of thousands, the picture takes as its central theme the fact that the Metis brought virtual Civil War to Canada in 1885. The Mounteds, heavily outnumbered, fought with dogged courpolicemen, one of whom competes for the heart of a beautiful nurse with a ranger from Texas.

poser, Jerome Kern, furnished the musical score of five original numbers in Universal's romantic comedy feature, "One Night in the Tropics," now screening at the Cosy Theatre, Hastings. "You and Your Kiss," "Simple Philosophy" and "Your Dream" are the numbers sung by Allan Jones.

"One Night In the Tropics" presents the story of a young insurance man who sells his best friend a million-dollar "love insurance" policy and thereby causes romantic complications among two couples. Starring roles are played by Jones, Miss Kelly, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello and Robert Cummings. Abbott and Costello, famous stage and radio comedy team, make their screen debut in the picture.

Bringing Hugh Herbert and a whole court of clowns in one of the most novel comedy concoctions of the season, "Meet the Chump," is the second feature. Herbert has one of his most hilarious characterisations in a record of 100 screen hits. In the role of the wacky guardian of a ten-million dollar estate.

Municipal

COMEDY, "IT'S LOVE I'M AFTER"

Seldom if ever has a Hastings audience witnessed a more spark lingly and hilariously funny comedy than "It's Love I'm After" which than "It's Love I'm After" which screens to-day and to-morrow at the Municipal Theatre. The story is an intricate tale woven around the life of a great Shakespearean actor and his leading lady who are, of course, Leslie Howard and Bette Davis. At times madly in love with each other, they are also sorely beset by professional jealousies which serve to turn their ardour into tempestuous hate.

What follows is as hilariously funny as any comedy seen for a long time. Nowhere is there a dull moment or a weak spot in either moment or a weak spot in either cast or story.

The exotic atmosphere of the interior of North China—rarely if ever before shown in a motion picture and particularly timely to-day with China in the headlines—comes to the screen in "West of Shanghai," a melodramatic thriller, which is the second feature.

Boris Karloff is a Chinese bandit general, and, fortunately, isn't in the least horrible. The play revolves around the possession and ownership of an oil concession.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IN "YOUNG PEOPLE"

With rollicking entertainment its keynote, "Young People" has been called Shirley Temple's most enjoyable picture. Jack Oakie and Charlotte Greenwood are co-starred with her in the 20th Century-Fox film now screening at the State Theatre, Napier.

Joyfully musical, the new film also boasts an unusual story. Charlotte and Jack adopt Shirley and though they achieve success with their vaudeville act, they decide to retire on a New England farm. Their life in the small town is depicted as the film moves swiftly to the stirring conclusion. Paced by five new and catchy tunes by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, "Young People" has been labelled a show full of gay good time. Others featured in a fine supporting cast include Arleen Whelan, George Montgomery and Kathleen Howard.

Stephen (Brian Aherne) tells Kendal to keep out of his private life. To save his fortune Stephen must marry before a certain date. As the zero hour approaches Stephen marries Kendal for "business reasons." But Kendal, who loves him, refuses then to give him a divorce. Stephen tries to explain to Phyllis, the model, why he ran out on her and married his secretary. Meanwhile, Phyllis falls for Jose, a Count. Kendal listens while Jose, her stooge, tells of his love progress. He and Phyllis marry, and Stephen realises that he is in love with his wife.

RED CROSS CABARET ON RACE NIGHT

Race night always needs a finale and so members of the Red Cross Society are planning to increase their funds with a cabaret to be held at the racecourse tea kiosk after the Hunt Club race meeting in Hastings on Saturday.

It is hoped that many people from all parts of the district will decide to have an evening's pleasure and at the same time help along these Red Cross funds which are responsible for so much being done for our soldiers.

for our soldiers.

GIRLS' LIFE BRIGADE IN HASTINGS

Social Gathering Enjoyed

The members and cadets of the First Hastings Company of the Girls Life Brigade, formed some Girls Life Brigade, formed some months ago in connection with the Methodist Church, entertained parents and friends at a social gathering in the Methodist Sunday School on Wednesday evening. The organisation is a sister movement to the Boys' Brigade.

The programme includes spiritual, physical, educational activities and members must be actively associated with some Sunday School or Bible class. The evening's entertainment, ed with some Sunday School or Bible class. The evening's entertainment, which was arranged by Lleut. Sylvia Rose, included items by the girls as follows: Pianoforte duet, Rosaline Mitchell and Lesley Cody; pianoforte solos, Helen Cody and Clare Pring; recitations, Mirlam Salter and Valerie Ainsworth; one minute playette, Valerie Ainsworth and May Price; song, Mary Buckingham; musical monologue, Naida Cameron. There were also several games, of which "The Poison Spot" was the most exciting and interesting. Supper brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

The engagement is announced of Noeleen Carne, only daughter of Mr and Mrs Noel Harding, Heretaunga Street, Hastings, and Lieutenant William John Rainbow, New Zealand Field Artillery, son of Mr and Mrs A. I. Rainbow, Tomoana Road, Hastings.

The Letterbox

Snowdrop, Hastings: Thank you for your coloured pictures, Snowdrop, and I am glad you were pleased with the competition this week. You have not many marks to gain now so try hard. Just fancy your goat answering your call—she must know you very well. Thank you also for your little story and the joke.

Pluto, Hastings: By now you will have had a letter from me, Pluto, so I have nothing very special to write here. You now have 40 marks so will you try to write to me often as soon as you are well again and I am sure that you will soon reach 100 marks. I am glad you were able to go into Napier and see the ships being loaded at the port.

Genevieve, D.S.O., Hastings: I knew that you would enjoy doing our painting competition, Genevieve, and I was so pleased that you all had a try and they were good attempts. I am very envious of your having some anemones in bloom. It is very very seldom that I cannot find a few flowers for my office but I am afraid I have had nothing these last two weeks. I hope your maidenhair fern will grow well.

Chris Austin, Whakatu: Thank you very much for all the little drawings which you sent me this week, Chris, and also for your printing. I would like to know who it is who does the drawings for you to copy. I am so glad that you tried our colouring competition also.

Professor, Whakatu: You now have 74 marks, Professor, so do try hard and see how quickly you can reach 100 and become a D.S.O. as well as gaining your prize. I am glad the propellers you made for your bicycles went well. I should hate to have seen those water rats. What a splendid idea to cover all your books and how splendid to have another William book to add to your collection.

Ginger, D.S.O., Whakatu: I am glad to hear that your exams are over, Ginger, and I would like to hear whether you gained good marks. Are you in the basketball team? You must surely have had a good strong wind behind you to be able to get home so quickly on Saturday.

Mickey Mouse, Whakatu: I was watching your marks, Mickey Mouse, because I knew you were nearly ready for a badge. They added up to 23 last week but you have reached the right number now and I will leave it all ready for you to call and collect. I think it was good to gain 70 marks for sums and I hope you will do as well in everything. I shall be interested to hear all about your garden.

Echo, Wairoa: I am very pleased indeed to welcome you to our Playtime Club, Echo, and I like your pen name. Would you please tell me your full name so that I can welcome you properly and also your age and birthday date. I am so glad to hear that you are interested in our Playtime Page and please write to me often.

Dally Mail Office, Hastings. If there are any questions as regards these seats, they should be made to the theatre manager.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO—

Garthowen, D.S.O., Hastings, who will be 13 years old on Monday.

Waterilly, Takapau: I had missed your letter last week, Waterlily, and so was extra pleased to hear from you this time. I am sure the snow up your way must have made it very cold and I am glad that you can play basketball to keep you warm. I have plenty of books to read just at present, but thank you very much for your kind offer. I am not quite ready yet for any jokes or riddles again.

Penny, D.S.O., Hastings: Your letter was very welcome, indeed, Penny, and I was glad that I had not been forgotten. When I read about all your knitting I quite understood how busy you must always be. I am sure that the two children must keep you very busy and it is kind of you to booking after them. I hope your sister will soon be well again and also that all your brothers overseas will be safe and well. Your correspondence must be very large.

Garthowen, D.S.O., Hastings, who will be eight years old on Sunday, June 29.

Faith, Hastings: Your letter seemed to be full of all kinds of interesting news, Faith, and I was interested to hear all about the five little pups and the two fat pigs. I hope your exams are quite successful and perhaps when they are finished you will find a little extra time for writing to me and for your reading.

There was a young man of Gravesend Who borrowed a car from a friend. The confounded car broke, Which wasn't a joke, When it cost a week's wages to mend.

Patty Simon, Hastings: I was pleased that our painting competition tempted you to write to me again, Patty, because I really thought you had forgotten me completely. I am glad that you, too, belong to Girls' Life Brigade and I hope your church parade is most successful. Will you write often now and try to gain 25 marks so that you can have a badge. Garthowen, D.S.O. Hastings: Thank you for both your letters this week, Gathowen. I do hope you will have a very good birthday. I think really the patches on the mountains were snow but it could easily have been forest so I think it would not matter. I am glad that your mother is well again.

Shirley Foote, Hastings: I knew that the availating competition was pleased. —Bluebell, Hastings.

Scribbler, D.S.O., Hastings: Your note was indeed a short one, Scribbler, and though it didn't include anything which needed answering I felt that it would be quite wrong for our last Playtime Page to be published without a letter to our very best playmate. I do say very sincerely that I will always watch your career because I expect great things from you and wish you lots of luck.

The real sale of the real This is indeed very sad news for all of us that there will no longer be a Playtime Page to make us look forward so keenly to Saturdays. I know just how sorry you will all be and for my part I feel I have made at least 100 very dear friends. I have become keenly interested in your schools, your games and lessons and your fun and I shall remember always the real pleasure I have had from my Letterbox.

To those of you who have done so particularly well with stories and illustrations I would just add one thing. If you have a special gift for art or story-writing appreciate that

Some of you are well on the way to earning your badge and anyone who would still like to have one can call at the office next week and collect it.

Lastly, I wish you all good luck and lots of happiness and success in the future and thank you for giving me so much pleasure.

TO ROAM

Bub, Hastings: I did not mind that you spent most of your time doing the painting competition this week, Bub, because I wanted you all to try very hard indeed to do it well. I am sorry you did not win your basketball match, but it will make you try all the harder when you next play and I hope the ball will go in every time.

Bib, Hastings: I did hope so very much that you would call to see me on Wednesday night, Bib, because it was your last chance but I remembered afterwards that you had something special at G.L.B. Thank you for all you sent to me—I shall miss your letters very very much and am very sad indeed that this is our last page.

Nancy Paulsen, Takapau: I was very interested to read your exam. marks, Nancy, and so far you seem to have done very well. I hope the other subjects will be just as good and I was sorry you didn't tell me which of the essays you chose. How splendid to have such a good holiday in Wellington and you must have had fun working the lift.

Tex, Clive: I am so glad to hear that you help your mother by bringing in the firewood, Tex. That is a real boy's job and a very good way for you to help. I think you write very nicely indeed and I hope that you will always be very careful and stay a good writer even when you have to do it smaller and more quickly.

Plain Jane, Clive: I am so pleased stay a good writer even when you have to do it smaller and more quickly.

Plain Jane, Clive: I am so pleased that you are fond of knitting, Plain Jane, and that you are doing so well. Later on you will be able to knit such pretty jumpers for yourself but at present I think it is so kind of you to be knitting sox for your uncle and I am sure that he will be very pleased to receive them.

Diana, Clive: I think that your little sister has two very attractive names, Diana, and I am glad that you will be able to have just a little roser than you called but I expect I just happened to be out at this time. I am interested to hear that you and Camel, Mop and Jiminy Cricket are cousins.

Mop, Whakatu: I was pleased that you, too, tried the painting competition, Mop, and it was a good try too, I would like to keep those little snaps of you and am interested to find that Buster is the fisherman. I wonder if he was lucky and caught anything that day.

Camel, Whakatu: I had put your badge aside for you, Camel, because I noticed that you had reached 25 marks so if you would like to call and collect it it will be here. I was very interested to read of your football match and I wondered if you were in the team that played against Haumoana.

Jiminy Cricket, Whakatu: Yes, I am very well indeed, Jiminy Cricket, and I am glad to hear that you are also. I am so sorry that you will not now have the opportunity to come in and see me—it is a shame isn't it. I am glad you did the riddle-me-ree and the painting.

Happiness, Napier: I am so glad that you enjoyed our painting competition, Happiness, and your entry was very good. I think you must be doing well at your music and I am not surprised that you like it so much. What fun you must have with your skating and I hope one day you will be lucky and win the Monte Carlo.

Betty Butcher, Napler: I am very sorry that just when you had decided to become a playmate there is to be no more Playtime Club, Betty. However, your painting was included amongst the entries and thank you very much for the good wishes you sent.

Twinkletoes, Hastings: I received the little note from your mother which came with your picture, Twinkletoes. I suppose you were extratousy and so did not have time to write but I was glad that you did our painting competition.

The Letterbox

Tomahawk, Clive: What a shame it is that just when you decided to write to me again it is too late, Tomahawk, and I would so like to have had you for a Playmate. I think you have a very fine hobby and I do hope you will be successful in the show. How interesting it must be to have a pen friend in Niue Island.

Moonbeam, Napier: Yours was such a pretty letter this week, Moonbeam, and I feel very sad indeed that I will not be receiving them every week as before. Your painting was very good and I hope you will always try hard with this because you are a lucky girl to be able to do it so nicely. I am glad your badge reached you safely.

Bluebell, D.S.O., Hastings: Yes, I am afraid the paper is not at all good for painting, Bluebell, but you made a very good try. I hope you will do well in your exams and I am so pleased that you have a new book of music and it does sound good. Your mother told me what a busy time you have but you will be glad later on when you can play and sing and give everyone pleasure.

Chick-a-Biddy, Hastings: I had missed your letters, Chick-a-Biddy, and so was very pleased when one arrived from you this week. I am so glad that you and Topsy take the babies to the park and I think it is very kind of you.

The Letterbox

Rose Marie, Hastings: I am so very sorry that I shall not now be able to have the extra special letter you promised me for next week, Rose Marie, How lucky you are to have those up of the first Playmates to hear our sad news, Cherry Blossom, because your father would tell you. What a pity it is, isn't it? I am sure your papier mache dish must look very pretty. Yes, I am afraid it was difficult to paint the picture very well.

Joy, Napier: I'm sure that you must be a very busy person with all your work and basketball to manage, Joy, so I was glad you had time to do the painting. What a pity you did not win your basketball match. You must encourage your team to practise a lot and see if you can be more successful next time you play.

Topsy, Hastings: How kind of you to take your little friend out on Saturdays, Topsy, and I am sure he must thoroughly enjoy it. I hope your brother will not go away too soon and you must learn to knit for him, won't you. I missed your letter last week so was glad to get one this time.

Wendy, Hastings: What great fun to be staying at the farm, Wendy. It must be a very pleasant change. When your aunt comes home she will be able to tell you all about the baby. I hope you are helping to look after the animals and I am so glad that you liked our competition. that you liked our competition.

Clare, Hastings: Thank you so much for your story and for the jokes that you sent me this week, Clare. I do hope that you will have a very happy birthday, to-morrow, and I will think about you. How splendid to have it on a day when you don't have to go to school.

Hinemoa, Napier: Unfortunately I never seem to be at home when the wireless serials are on, Hinemoa, but there is one that I never miss and look forward to from week to week and that is Silas Marner. I wonder if you listen to that on Tuesday evenings. How lucky you are to be getting a basketball. I hope your next sponge cake will be inches high.

Tiki, Hastings: I was very glad to hear that your kittens came home again, Tiki, I expect the poor little things were starving but no doubt you would soon feed them up again and make them fat. Thank you for the limerick and I was so pleased to hear that you had done well with your examinations at school.

Rata, Napier: I was very interested to read in your letter about your sponge cake making experiences, Rata and I am so pleased that you were successful and made a good one the day you needed it most. They can be rather tricky to make. I do hope that you will do well in your exams and I expect they are keeping you pretty busy.

Rua, Napier: I was very pleased indeed to receive your snap, Rua, and thought it kind of you to send it. What great fun it will be to have the basketball match and how kind of your mother to have a member of the visiting team to stay. I do hope that your team will win. I am glad your badge arrived safely and that you like it.

Tinkerbell, Hastings: I think that you must love going out to stay at the farm, Tinkerbell, and it sounds such a lovely place to me. Fancy finding a daisy that should really only appear in the springtime shouldn't it? What fun you must have with the little flax boats too.

Peter Pan, Clive: I am so glad that you did the riddle-me-ree this time, Peter Pan, because they are not difficult to do and are really very good fun I. liked your joke and the "how are you" answers, and am only sorry I won't be able to use them. I am glad your bage arrived safely and that you like that there is not very much for me to say to you, Popeye, as I saw you on Thursday evening. However, as I am hoping that you will see this last paper I will say again that I hope you will be very happy in your new home in Taranaki and I shall be very pleased indeed if you can find time to write me a note to let me know how things are.

Daily Mail

SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1941.

FAREWELL TO OUR READERS

With this issue publication of the "Daily Mail" will be discontinued. It is with considerable regret that the proprietors have decided that the existing conditions and future prospects do not warrant their carrying on the paper.

Established in 1938, the "Daily Mail" has served the people of Hawke's Bay in the morning paper field for over three years. The intervening period has been one of exceptional difficulty for newspaper publishers. With the outbreak of war costs increased rapidly and earnings were seriously affected. The larger part of a newspaper's income is derived from the sale of space to advertisers. The disorganisation of the import trade through rationing and other restrictions resulted in the disappearance of certain widelyadvertised goods from the market, and a great deal of national advertising was withdrawn from the newspapers altogether. In the local advertising field competition has kept rates down to unremunerative levels.

In addition to rising production costs, the requirements of the Military Service Act make it difficult to hold staffs together and maintain an efficient office organisation.

In the course of its all too brief career, the "Daily Mail" achieved considerable popularity with the public and proved that this district needs and appreciates a morning paper owned and printed in Hawke's Bay. But for the war there is no doubt whatever that the "Daily Mail" would have been able to remain in the field and make a permanent place for itself in New Zealand journalism. The "Daily Mail" aimed at being the first with the news and generally succeeded. It always tried to present the news with fairness and impartiality, in a bright and attractive way.

Editorially the "Daily Mail" endeavoured to take a broad-minded and tolerant attitude on controversial issues and to avoid partisanship in the discussion of public questions. Judging by many of the letters the Editor has received from time to time, this policy has earned the goodwill and approval of people in all walks of life.

In taking farewell of its readers and many friends, the "Daily Mail" would like to place on record an appreciation of the loyalty and devotion of the literary and mechanical staffs of the paper, everyone of whom has worked tirelessly and enthysiastically to keep the paper affect. and enthusiastically to keep the paper afloat.

The time will come when the interests to be served in Hawke's Bay must again demand the establishment of a morning paper, and we close with the hope that when the world is once more at peace, conditions will prevail which will make it possible for others to succeed where we have failed.

THE EXPORT POSITION

The terms of the agreement arrived at between the Government of the United Kingdom and the governments of Australia and New Zealand in regard to the exportable surplus of primary products will be scanned with interest by everyone concerned. We think it will be conceded that an equitable arrangement has been reached, and one that will safeguard the interests of the farmers.

Shipping is the key to the position and until the battle of the Atlantic is definitely won, there is a grave element of uncertainty as to how much of our surplus agricultural production can be transported overseas.

The people of the United Kingdom want all the food we can send them and the Dominion has the capacity to expand production very considerably, but having regard to approach the United Kingdom to take all the risk. It is ernment of the United Kingdom to take all the risk. It is satisfactory to know that farmers can proceed on the assumption that they will at least be able to market pre-war quantities of primary products, and that the New Zealand Government will protect them, and stand behind the industry if it is adversely affected.

Possibly some of those associated with farmers' organisations may regard the undertaking as being a little vague, but the Government can hardly give a blank cheque and guarantee the farmer a sale of everything he produces. The Government has a duty to the community as a whole. While it is right in principle that the producers should be protected from losses caused by the war, no one can be completely indemnified.

The farmers may rest assured that they will not be placed at a greater disadvantage than any other section, and the treatment they have received since the outbreak of war should be a fair indication of the measure of assistance they may expect in the future.

LONDON, June 26. LONDON, June 26.

Ten persons were killed, including six children, when early-morning raiders directly hit a house in a village in southern England. There were 12 persons in the house. They included a family of nine, of whom the parents and five children, including twins, were killed. Two children were rescued from the wreckage seriously injured. The other child killed was an evacuee. An official communique states that, up to 8 p.m., there had been no further reports of enemy activity over Britain to-day.

Breakfast

"Love is what makes a young man spend 100 dollars for a dia-mond ring while he tries to keep warm all winter in last summer's raincoat."

The latest story about Nazi officialdom tells of a party leader, who had just purchased a pretentious country home, which according to the town paper, cost 75,000 marks. One morning the occupant found, pinned to the main door, a card which read: "Where did you get the 75,000?"

The irate victim offered a reward of 1000 marks to the one who uncovered the perpetrator of the deed. Next morning, however, another card was pinned to the door, which read: "Where did you get the 76,000 marks?"

Many men have never experimented with Winter Underwear to the extent of finding out how warm some of it is, as compared with other types. They don't even know that the question of fitting, is almost more important than the weight of the fabric, and if underwear is too free and easy it can be more uncomfortable than if too tight. Let Parkers advise you as they have the experience and the stocks to choose from. Parkers.

Labour Rivalry

A group of Labour supporters in the Auckland Suburbs electorate has nominated Mr J. Williams, of Avondale, for selection as official candidate against the nomination of the sitting member since 1926 (the Hon. H. G. R. Mason) and a ballot will be held to decide the issue. Mr Williams is secretary of the Auckland Suburbs Labour representation committee, and was campaign secretary for Mr Mason at the last election.—Press Association.

Shooting Season

The shooting season for imported game, California and Australian quail and cock pheasants will end on Sunday week, and according to the secretary of the Hawke's Bay Acclimatisation Society (Mr I. L. Prime) sportsmen have been securing good bags of late. Last night Mr Prime said that one sportsman 'secured four cock pheasants and fourgood-sized quail in a morning's shooting.

Another New Home

The increasing part which the Home Guard is playing in the mobilisation of men ineligible for military service is evidenced by the fact that it has twice recently expanded the home of its administrative staff in the Market Reserve building, the home of its administrative staff in the Market Reserve building, Napier. From one small room at the rear of the building the staff was shifted to a suite in the front of the premises. The latest move involves the use of the offices which formerly accommodated the staff of the Napier Harbour Board. The Area Commander (Lieut. J. W. Snaddon) is provided with an office at the rear of his premises, and consequently is always available to members of the movement.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. D. M. Cattanach, and the subject the Scottish Covenanters. In opening his address Mr Cattanach said that although the events happened 300 years ago we were now fighting for principles of a similar kind—freedom of conscience and liberty to worship as our conscience dictated. He said if we had not neglected our dearly bought rights and privileges the world would be in a happier state to-day.

No Public Worship

The rise of the Covenanters took place when King Charles I issued an edict that no public worship would be allowed excepting under the authority and according to the form of the Anglican Church. The Scottish people refused to submit. Charles was a stubborn, although a religious, man, and would not listen to the objectors.

He said that if there were no bishops there could be no king. The liturgy was to be read in St. Giles, Edinburgh, for the first time and Mr Cattanach described the wild scenes which stopped the proceedings, and, he said, the liturgy had never been, and never would be, read in St. Giles.

In 1638 "The National Covenant" was drawn up and the signing took place at Grey Friar's Church, in Edinburgh, where 60,000 people from all parts of Scotland were assembled, the people binding themselves to fight for their religious rights and liberties.

Uniformity of Agreement

This document formed the basis This document formed the basis of Presbyterianism to the present day. Another covenant, "The Solemn League," was signed in 1643, by the House of Commons and the Presbyterian Assembly which led to the bringing of the churches of England, Scotland and Ireland into uniformity of agreement in regard iniformity of agreement in regard to their respective forms of worship.

The speaker referred to the perfidity of Charles II, who signed the covenant without any intention of keeping it. The cruel persecution and heroic martyrdoms that followed, said Mr Cattanach, showed the religious zeal of the Scottish people, thousands of whom were ruthlessly killed during the reign of Charles II by his bloodthirsty dragoons.
On the motion of Mr S. Ashcroft a vote of sympathy to Mr A. J. C. Runciman and his family in their recent bereavement was passed by the club.

Hon. W. Nash Details Problems Facing Dominion

(By Telegraph-Press Association.) WELLINGTON, June 27.

"This is not a business bargain made in terms of commercial advantage on either side. It is just what we might expect from the Old Country—a fair and equitable deal in which business prudence is mellowed by her regard for our difficulties and our regard for Britain's. Its nature, its fairness, its essential common-sense equity compel this country, all of us alike, to do our best to implement it to full," said the acting-Prime Minister (the Hon. W. Nash) in an address to-night in which he reviewed the agreement reached with the United Kingdom for the disposal of exportable surplus products for the war period

Amplifying the first provision that "the United Kingdom agrees to purchase all the New Zealand produce that can be shipped," Mr Nash stressed that the Dominion's primary industries must make every effort to adapt their products for easier shipping by canning, deboning or processing.

"I want to drive one profound fact home, and that is that to the extent that we can the more quickly turn round our ships so will we get more produce away," said Mr Nash, "but the importance of New Zealand's primary industries is of vital concern to us and the strongest representations have been made by the New Zealand Government on this matter.

"The final main essential to this agreement provides that the financial burden of acquiring and holding these reserve stocks shall be shared equally between the two Governments. We in New Zealand must agree that this is a fair proposal and, though it will entail a very heavy financial burden on such a small country, the New Zealand Government is prepared to face this possibility and at the same time reiterates the basis of its policy, namely, that such a burden will be spread as equitably as possible over the community as a whole.

"The next vital point in the agreement is that the reserve stocks of storable foodstuffs to bet held in this

Auxiliary Council Reviews Assistance In War Effort

(By Telegraph-Press Association.) WELLINGTON, June 27.

Members of Dominion Auxiliary Workers Training Council met to-day in conference with representatives of Education Department and directors of technical colleges in the main centres to discuss matters arising out of the emergency training schemes that have set in operation in the chief centres and also proposals in connection with further schemes.

"In December 1940, the Government brought down regulations set-ting up the Dominion Auxiliary Workers Training Council, composed of representatives of workers' and employers' organisations and Government Departments, giving this council power to institute through local councils in each centre training classes for those trades where need could be shown for additional numbers of relatively skilled men in any particular trade or industry," said the Minister of Labour (the Hon. P. Webb) in the six months during which this Council has been operating. Classes have been established in each of the four chief centres for training workers for the munition and engineering industry. of representatives of workers' and affairs and had never exercised his franchise.

In support of the appeal evidence was given by appellant's father, Mr E. J. R. Milne, and Mr A. B. Herbertson, secretary of the Hastings Ecclesits of the society.

Government to the United Kingdom Government on this matter.

"The final main essential to this agreement provides that the financial burden of acquiring and holding these reserve stocks shall be shared equally between the two Governments. We in New Zealand must agree that this is a fair proposal and, though it will entail a very heavy financial burden on such a small country, the New Zealand Government is prepared to face this possibility and at the same time reiterates the basis of its policy, namely, that such a burden will be spread as equitably as possible over the community as a whole.

"In general terms it must now be related to the following factors:

"(1) The extent which the United Kingdom can provide shipping facilities in any given season.

"(2) The extent of cool storage facilities which should and can be provided.

"(3) The extent by which the net ment is that the reserve stocks of storable foodstuffs to bet held in this country are to be on a quantitative basis to be agreed upon between the two Governments and are to be related to the probable demands during and after the war and to the fimportance of the primary industries to New Zealand.

"This provision plainly implies that it is not the wish of the United Kingdom Government that unlimit ed quantities of produce should be accumulated in New Zealand for an indefinite period."

When the war was over, said Mr Nash, it would be necessary to rush suplies of food to those countries in the greatest need. Conversations were now taking place to ensure that, outside the present agreement the food that New Zealand could store would be made available wherever necessary.

Regulations AUCKLAND OFFENCE

A brisk exchange of views took place at yesterday's sitting of the No. 4 Armed Forces Appeal Board at Hastings between the chairman (Mr W. F. Stilwell) and an appellant who insisted on airing his views concerning the cause of the war.

Cecil James Crump, a farm hand, appealing on the grounds of public interest and conscience declared that as a balloted territorial he signed papers and took the oath to be loyal to his country. The discovery later that a clause on that paper involved him in overseas service, made not the slightest difference to him.

"I never intended to go overseas, and I never shall, for I care not if a hundred armed forces appeal boards or a thousand police should attempt."

AUCKLAND, June 27.

The first case of its kind under the slight under the Police Court today, when a butcher, Leslie George Hallam, pleaded guilty to a sum-mons charge of failing to extinguish an illuminated sign visible from the sea. The police said that the maximum penalty was a fine of £50, or three months' imprisonment.

An electric sign under the shop verandah was found burning at night, the defendant having been previously warned.

Defending counsel said it was doubtful if the sign was visible from the sea. Hallam had not received previous warning, and when the police communicated with him took over the old Temperance Hotel, Thackeray Street.

He left Napier in 1922 for Tiko-kino, three years later going to Clive to reside.

He leaves his wife, two sons, Messrs C. D. McKay, Hastings, and Messrs C. D. McKay, Patone, and three daughters, Mrs P. Griffin, Wellington, the defendant having been previously warned.

Edward Lewis Evans, Carnell Street, Napier.

Mr Evans was born in Birmingham in 1852 and was a son of the late Mr Walter Swift Evans, Gothic designer and assistant to A. W. Pugin, the architect of the English Houses of Parliament.

The deceased was a member of an artistic family, his three uncles, the late Mr Bernard Evans, R.I., R.B.A., Mr Wilfred Evans and Mr Edmund Evans, each winning fame in their separate fields. Mr Wilfred Evans secured prominence for his beautiful architectural paintings and for his exhibits at the Royal Academy, London, while Mr Edmund Evans, who was also an exhibitor at the Academy, was an etcher and artist. Mr Evans came out to New Zealand in 1894 and settled in Napier, where he had resided ever since.

UTILITY POULTRY SHOW CLASSES

The high standard of entries in the utility poultry classes of the Hastings Society's annual show was favourably commented upon by the judge, Mr G. E. Moody. The general standard was much higher general standard was much higher than in past years, he said.
"Some of the birds were outstanding," said Mr Moody. "The blacks were a good class and Mr Poswillo cockerel was a very high quality bird and an easy winner of several special prizes."

The white leghorns also were much better this year than in previous shows, both successful cockerels and pullets being high quality exhibits.

Dannevirke Hunt Holds Its Annual Meeting

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME

Speculation Confined To Single

(By THE BARB)

The Dannevirke Hunt will hold its annual race meeting at Woodville to-day with prospects fair. The going will be soft but the weather has been good this last week with indications that to-day this will continue. The fields are quite up to standard and the racing should be quite interesting.

There will be two jumping events—a hack and hunters' hurdles and the Dannevirke Hunt Cup steeplechase for qualified hunters. This class is also catered for by a Ladies' Bracelet Flat Handicap. Also on the programme is a Maiden, two hack races and the open mile and a quarter. The speculation will be single pool.

The Dannevirke Hunt is an oldestablished sports body and held race meetings many years ago, but on account of their being non-totalisator there is no record in the New Zealand Turf Register

Lord 8.9, Moderate 8.5, Cheetah 8.0, First Round 8.0, Ata Puwhero 8.0. Silverhope when trained here was a fair galloper but did not come up to expectations although he was not a dud. He has not raced for some time, but is just the sort to

One of the founders and early One of the founders and early Masters of the Dannevirke Hunt was that fine sporting gentleman, Mr Herbert Gaisford, father of the present president, Mr W. H. Gaisford, and Mrs G. D. Beatson, Hastings. Mr Henry Gaisford, at his own expense, retained the Dannevirke Hunt for many years as well as im-Hunt for many years as well as importing hounds from the Old Country and it is owing to him that many of the Hunts in the middle part of the North Island owed their

Mr W. H. Gaisford, 'to-day's president, who was also for many years the Master, will have a couple of horses racing this afternoon to carry on the traditions of his father, but this is not really recessary to remind the sportsmen of Hawke's Bay and other districts of his father. There will be a big crowd travelling down to Woodville to-day for the racing and just on a dozen horses from Hastings and Greenmeadows will

Baron Bold, from Wanganui, ads the list with 15lb. over the nimum. Recent racing should ave brought him back to the form of 12 months ago and, as he will have a track to his liking, should be thereabouts at the finish. Colibri has been in when along in this depart. been in minor places in this department so he, too, is not without qualifications. Haile Selassie is reported to be in forward condition but Hastto be in forward condition but Hastings folk have not much faith in this gelding, who was once trained here. Kanui Te Pai won his two races on the flat at Awapuni so well that his galloping ability is recognised, as he is also reputed to be a proficient fencer, he looks like the favourite. Siegall was second in the Hawke's Bay Hurdles so is not without credentials.

Acre's Beauty, on Wairoa form in early February, would have a chance. Greek Effort so far has chance. Greek Effort so far has failed while Lacelle is inexperi-enced. Santa Lucia has ran a couple enced. Santa Lucia has ran a couple of fair races and might be one of the hard ones. Merlac has no form but Half Crown, last February at Woodville, was second but has not produced that form since. Cyprine from Hastings has an outside show. Manahau, Trethella and Te Awe Awe have racing condition to help them on the way. Flaxmore (should it be Flaxmere), First Role, Fleetlimb and Serutator are all newcomers while Flaxmere), First Role, Fleetlimb and Serutator are all newcomers while the latter, trained at Woodville, is said to be a fair galloper. Darag wants a race no doubt while Spliced may improve on recent showings. Analysed they are a very poor lot on paper and its no easy matter to say what will be favourite. Drawing from a hat may result in the fancies being

Seven accepted and seven will go to the post. Ruenzori in the past has shown himself a clever and fast jumper and has wins to back it. He has not done much racing of late but is fit and well for chasing the hounds and will be one of the favourites. Hyderabad was rather impressive for a hunter when running second twice at Gisborne to Birkology but unsoundness since then has stopped him in his preparation. Beau Monde has won on the flat and only this season has been jumped. He is said to be an able fencer so he may prove the winner but the critics have nothing definite to go on. Puffing Bill created a favourable impression six or seven weeks ago when running third but since then he has not done as well. However, now in the Hunt class, he should show up. Golden Ridge was anything but a good jumper over hurdles and the writer is dubious of his being able to handle crosscountry fences, although the obstacles at Woodville are not big. Lacan is a possibility and Summons is a candidate that will have to be taken into consideration before the two and a half miles is completed. The best backed may be

(By THE BARB)

The one-day winter meeting of the Oamaru Jockey Club takes place today with a mixed programme of seven races, which includes a hack and hunters' steeplechase, two open flat races, two hack events and two races confined to trotters.

The chief event of the day is the Grange Handicap, run over a mile and a-quarter, and as the moderate Cherokee is topweight this gives an indication of the company. Cherokee is useful among the second grade, so may be one to consoder. Last Refrain is without recent winning credentials while Cymric appears to do best in private. However, here he might not feel the pinch and so perform better. Secret Flight is a promoted hack and one that may next season prove up to open grade. Airline won in his last start and will probably be the favourite to-day with 8.4. Lazybones is another that will not escape the notice of speculators. Gay Parade not a dud. He has not raced for some time, but is just the sort to win fresh and also will have a track to his liking. Ringling might win, but she has been one of the season's biggest disappointments in the hack grade. This is perhaps the weakest field she has yet struck. Tea Lord has recent consistency on his side and is a starter in this is another that will not escape the notice of speculators. Gay Parade won recently, but the stakes have not yet been released. His form also suggests his being a possibility. The Wrecker is better left alone. Two fair hacks in Islay Downs and Sheenye are in at the minimum and they will have to be considered.

his side and is a starter in this race. What beats him will win, says

Royal Star II. is the best performer in this race and if produced will carry the biggest part of the investments as he will have a track to his liking and opposition that he could just about carry when fit, which he is reported to be. The writer has heard nothing definite that he is to start.

On her running both days at the Manawatu Racing Club's winter meeting Aurora's Star will need to meeting Aurora's Star will need to improve, but some horses do improve in a few days. Winsome Lu only recommenced racing recently, but her fourth last Monday at Awapuni was encouraging and as she is at home on winter tracks she will be expected to put up a bold showing. Master Cyklon is in winning form and what is more, looks it, too. He won at Hastings, but the class was not behind him; all the same the Hunting Song gelding should again run prominently.

Brazil, when racing some little while Rhodes is a plodder who can handle heavy going. He shows fair time back, was a very fair hack, promise as a hurdler and is not without chances. Henry of Huntingdon gradually coming back to form and would not surprise if winning in the quite promising. The eight runners should furnish an interesting contest with most money perhaps forth-coming for the track will suit him admirably. Three that may interest specula

tors mostly are:-ROYAL STAR II. WINSOME LU MASTER CYKLON

3.50 p.m.—AKITIO LADIES' BRACELET, of £45; one mile and aquarter: Kohika 12.3, Golden Ridge 11.8, Lacan 11.7, Moonlight Bay 11.4, Summons 11.0, Rakete 11.0.

Summons 11.0, Rakete 11.0.

Amateur riders. This is the smallest field of the day. Kohika has been racing for some time, but has never been in the top lines excepting in races of the present conditions. He is now in the sere and yellow of his career, but "an old dog for a hard road" might be quoted in giving him a show. Golden Ridge is not without hopes, if reserved for this event. Lacan, like Golden Ridge, is a consideration if not started in the cross-country event. Moonlight Bay has no credentials. Summons is starting in the Hunt Cup and Rakete is a new-comer altogether, but said to be all right in this grade. This is even worse than the maiden to sum up. The favourite may come from RAKETE

Auburn Lad 8.0.

This race concludes the programme. Hasten disappointed in his Awapuni engagement, but now over a middle distance should show improvement sufficient to be one of the hard ones. Val Pere can gallop but it is only occasionally that he will try, so he cannot be recommended or speculated on with any confidence whatsoever. Tea Lord might not start in this race, but should an alteration be made, the little fellow is not without a show. Squeers is a likely one as he has condition on his side to carry him through the going and over the mile and a distance. Arabic—well, please yourself. Acrobat is only ordinary at best, but is a possibility. Form does not point to Leighon Rei being dangerous. Caution is passed over in favour of Tractometer, who is sure to handle the track. Of Tristan, Tashi Lama, Big Wave and Auburn Lad, Tashi Lama is preferred. Recovery may be looked to from Santoft, who won the Wellington Steeplechase a few years back, is again being given a chance to stand up to a preparation. He might win, but being a very unsound horse is not one to confide in. Combat is now at steeplechasing, having already raced this season and won on the flat and over hurdles. Superex, Gay Boa, Panara and Night Scout have all won over the tall timber this season and have racing condition on their side as well. Young Squatter was in a minor place at the last Dunedin meeting. Valens is a good jumper but, on Ashburton form, the favourite looks like being Waka, who was out in front and going well when this half-brother, by Tractor, to Luna Lux and Pertinax, ran off.
